What are the differences between the "early action window," "general application window," and "late application window" for Honors/AP Heritage admissions?

"Early Action Window"

Several days before the district open enrollment period; ensures the greatest chance of getting accepted into the Heritage program. Space in the program is limited and submitting a completed application during the early phase of admissions is highly recommended. Admission is guaranteed to any student that meets the minimum program eligibility requirements.

"General Application Window"

Majority of applications are typically submitted due to the addition of many open enrollment students.

With space already having been taken up by early action applicants, chances of admission are reduced.

"Late Application Window"

Possibility that the program may be full or close to being full; intended for individuals that may have missed the first two application windows. Applies mainly to inter-district transfer students and late attendance area students to whom open enrollment does not apply.
